

Shavkat Mirziyoyev visits the Digital Government Office

President of Uzbekistan Shavkat Mirziyoyev, accompanied by the Prime Minister of Kazakhstan Askar Mamin, visited the Digital Government Office, located on the territory of the EXPO Business Center in the city of Nur-Sultan.

The office was opened in September this year and includes the National Think Tank, the Digital Transformation Center and the National Project Office.

The Leader of Uzbekistan got acquainted with the capabilities of the situation center. It will have access to all databases and closely interact with the regions, which will allow seeing the real situation online, for example, data on the growth rate of vaccination in the country.

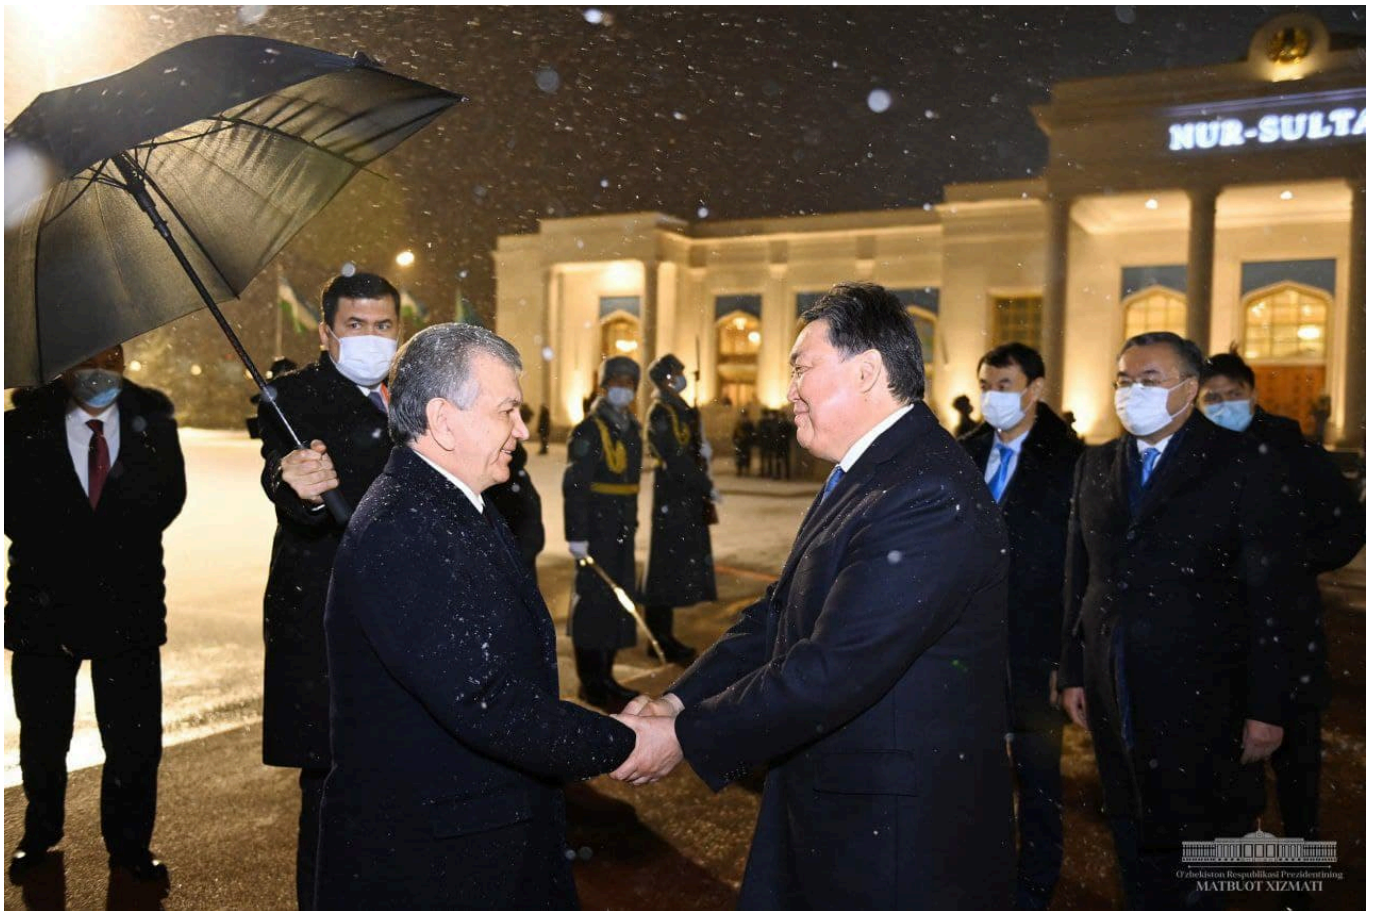

The capabilities of the analytical platform for domestic and foreign trade were demonstrated. With its help, online, you can monitor food prices and generate forecast cost indicators. In addition, projects in the sphere of innovation and the aerospace industry will be launched at the office.

The representative of the office noted the work carried out in Uzbekistan on the development of human capital, the creation of IT parks and training programmers, the digitalization of the public services sector, emphasized that Kazakhstan is also following this path.

The Head of the state emphasized the importance of exchanging experience in these areas, the widespread introduction of artificial intelligence technologies in the process of providing public services, analyzing socio-economic processes and developing solutions to improve the comfort of life.

Thereupon, the state visit of President Shavkat Mirziyoyev to Kazakhstan has ended.

Source