It is necessary to grieve when the desire to achieve something is lost. For a business started with pure thoughts will undoubtedly bring good results".

Much attention is paid to the preparation and stimulation of athletes in Uzbekistan. All conditions have been created for high-quality preparation not only for the Olympics, but also for the Paralympic Games. Winners of the Paralympics were awarded cars and apartments in Tashkent. In accordance with the Presidential Decree, all participants and their coaches received monetary rewards.

Instructions were given to attract people with disabilities to sports, develop the Paralympic movement, select and train talents, attract experienced specialists and coaches from abroad.

Paralympic departments will be created in sports educational institutions, additional quotas will be allocated, special training programs and methods will be introduced.

The task was set to establish the activities of the Institute for training specialists in paralympic sports under the National Paralympic Committee of Uzbekistan from next year.

The Head of the state proposed to create a School of Courage under the National Paralympic Committee of Uzbekistan.

“Unfortunately, there are many young people who, faced with even a minor obstacle or difficulty in life, lose hope and embark on the wrong path. If you, our dear athletes, hold meetings with young people in educational institutions, labor collectives, especially in mahallas, and tell them about your life, your difficult path, how you overcome trials, I think they will definitely follow your example”, the President said.

The need for broad coverage of the life, achievements and victories of Paralympians was also emphasized.

“The fact that they patiently and with a sense of gratitude took their rightful place in life, steadfastly overcoming the trials of fate, is a vivid example of true heroism and courage. The more our people, especially young people, learn about the exemplary life and activities of such people, the higher the probability that they will follow their example. This will serve to further improve the spiritual environment in our society”, the Head of the state said.
