

Sincere greetings

President of the Republic of Uzbekistan has also received congratulatory letters from the heads of state, government and parliaments of foreign countries, prominent statesmen and public figures.

In his greeting communication, President of the People's Republic of China Xi Jinping noted that he attaches "particular significance to the advancement of Sino-Uzbek relations", greatly values the deep friendship that has developed. The Chinese leader expressed his willingness to pay a state visit to Uzbekistan and, by joint efforts, to raise the bilateral multilayered cooperation to a qualitatively new level.

President of the Republic of Korea, Moon Jae In, has stressed that the active contacts and exchanges in progress, the coronavirus pandemic notwithstanding, are suggestive of "the true meaning of a special strategic partnership between our two nations." The South Korean leader expressed confidence that "owing to close cooperation, we will overcome the crisis, and bilateral relations will reach a new level of development."

Greeting letters have also come from:

Prime Minister of the Republic of India Narendra Modi,

President of the Republic of Azerbaijan Ilham Aliyev,

President of the Republic of Belarus Alexander Lukashenko,

President of the Republic of Moldova Igor Dodon,

President of the Ukraine Volodymyr Zelensky,

President of the Islamic Republic of Iran Hassan Rouhani,

President of the Republic of Serbia Aleksandar Vučić,

Prime Minister of the Russian Federation Mikhail Mishustin.

Congratulatory memos continue to come.

Source